DOG JUDGES HAVING THEIR OWN TROUBLES

Hard to Convince Losing Exhibitors at the Garden Show.

There is a rare opportunity offered for the student in human nature even at the Dog Show of the Westminster Kennel Club, now in the second day at the Garden, and just half over. No pen or canvas could depict half that envy, jealousy and traits revealed by exhibitors in the show ring, where every owner takes a dog believing it to be the very best specimen of its par ticular class in the whole world, only t find when the blue, and other ribbons are awarded that the critical eyes of the judge believes it to be a regular

That many ribbons are awarded largely through the shillty of the owner to reveal the best points of his dogs must be conceded. The judger are lynx-eyed and know the best points in the classes they judge from nose to tail, but no judge can always succeed in bringing out the best points of expression, the wag of the tail and glance of the eye like the owner. Consequantly, there is a great deal of interes about the judges' rings, of which there

David Mentlick Is Honorably Discharged by Magistrate Voorhees in Court To-Day

David Mentlick, fifty-seven years old. was honorably discharged to-day in Lee Avenue Court when the explanation was made of the circumstences leading up to his being mobbed on Sunday as a girl abductor. The police of the Lee uvenue station came upon a howing mob chasing a tall, eldorly man with a girl of about twelve, who said she was Clara Meyers, of No. 450 Grand street. New York. She was held by the Children's Society.

On the stand to-day she testified that she had gone to Williamsburg to visit her aunt, and falled to remember he address. Mentilek learned her plight and offered to help her. The two had gone into various hallways to inquire or look at the names on the leating of the boxes.

Magistrate Voorhees promptly discharged Mentilek.
